MASONS HAVE ANNUAL BANQUET

St. John's Day Celebrated With Big Feed at LaClede Hotel.

The annual banquet in celebration of St. John's Day was held at the LaClede Hotel Thursday night, December 27, by the Hickman Lodge No. 761 F & A. M. The occasion, an annual one, looked forward to with great anticipation by all members of the Masonic fraternity was one of the most enjoyable ever given by the lodge.

The eats for the occasion were arranged for and the serving was supervised by J. C. West and Mrs. West and viands of the most delectable nature were enjoyed by the guests, who numbered 180. The banquet was served in two shifts, so great was the number to be served. Over the first shift Judge E. J. Stidham presided as toastmaster while Judge T. S. Moore acted in that capacity at the second. Many symbolic speeches were made, notable among which was Judge J. W. Cowgill's "History of Hickman Masonry," a talkable from the interest which attached to the subject and from the concise and pleasing manner in which it was delivered by the speaker, and also a toast of the election of officers of the Hickman Lodge in 1872. 50 years ago, Mr. Cowgill was elected secretary.

The gude features of the program were a reading and vocal selection by Miss Lois Choate, who was accompanied on the piano by Miss Leonora Ambrose, one of Hickman's most talented young musicians.

Adding to the pleasure of the banquet was the beautiful decoration of the table, which was decorated with American beauty roses and pink carnations.

The following communication was printed in the All-American, S. W. Mall of June 2d, and signed by C. E. Gay II, Rector. The communication expresses Mr. Frazer's opinion of the picture which is to be shown at the Rex Theatre this city and is as follows:

"To Ladies and Gentlemen:

"In view of the cry for need of shielding and saving our young people from the terrible and unspeakable and unprintable horrors and abominations of life when abroad, I wish it were possible for the public to arrest every young man in America and take them to the Strand tonight and compel them to sit before the picture as entitled 'Are You Fit To Marry?' We believe in compulsory education, and this contemplated not if it could be carried off would be entirely in keeping with that principle, for education of the sort contained in that picture if heedful, will do more for the salvation of the race than almost any amount of preaching."

"I am not advertising the Strand but I say all glory to the theatre when used for the benefit of the race. We have not begun to realize the mighty picture house is a blessing. On with the show. Guard our young women for sake of the little angels."

NEWTON-WHITWORTH

Miss Old Whitworth and Captain Newton, two well known young people of this city, were quietly married on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Willie B. Johnson in West Hickman, the Rev. A. S. Pettie, of the First Baptist Church, officiating. The bride formerly lived near New Madrid, Mo., but has been residing here for the past three or four years and is well known to many here. For some time past she has been working in Pendleton's Boys' Home. The groom is a son of W. N. Newton and is well known here.

MISS Ruth Ligon, Leonora Ambrose, Dorothy Naylor and Marjorie Roney returned Sunday from a few days' visit with Miss Mary Elizabeth Grant, of Mayfield.

STARTING INTO OFFICE RIGHT

Tendency Seems to Start Clean Up Movement.

The newly elected county officials assumed their new duties on the first of the year, and there seems to be a tendency for their part to rid the county of some of the apparent lawlessness which has been tolerated for some time. Sheriff J. H. West has made several arrests in the past few days with the aid of his able deputies, among them being two, Emmett Owens and Garth Gilmore, who were charged with violations of liquor laws.

Owens was tried yesterday afternoon in quarterly court before Judge C. H. Nease, and owing to a difference in the making out of the affidavit and warrant was tried on the charge of selling intoxicating liquors to a minor. He was found guilty and fined $50 and costs. Gilmore was given examining trial the same afternoon and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

It is time some of this lawlessness which lately has been carried on openly and defiantly was being stopped, and the good citizens of the county will do well to stand behind these new officers and to have shown their willingness to try to stop it.

FERGUSON-MYRE

The marriage of Miss Bessie Ferguson to Bob Myre of Paducah, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Myre, came as a surprise to her many friends. The young bride is the pretty and accomplished daughter of John Ferguson, a prosperous farmer of Obion County.

The groom was foreman for the A. B. Smith Lumber Co. on Grassy Island for quite a while. The young couple were married on Dec. 16th in Paducah and will make their home in that place.

MRS. ARTHUR ROPER

After a long spell of sickness Mrs. Arthur Roper died at the home of her father, Mr. Bondurant, in Cayce, Friday Dec. 16th. She had been ill and bedridden for a year and was carried to Paducah for an operation and everything that could be done was done but they had to give her up. She leaves a husband and two little boys, a father, mother and one sister. Burial was had at Rush Creek Cemetery on Saturday.

COLLINS-KIRKENDALL

George Collins and Mrs. Ella Kirkendall, of Gage County, Neb., were quietly married Thursday, Dec. 22. They have been residing at the Price House Inn will leave in a few days for Los Angeles, where they will make their home in the future.

START WORK AT WELL

After being closed down for the holidays and waiting for a piece of machinery, work was begun at the well of Roney, Mitchell & Briner, eight miles southwest of Hickman yesterday. The operators believe they will soon be drilling again and that not many more feet will be necessary to reach the large producing oil sand.

METHODIST SALE

The Methodist Missionary Society will have a miscellaneous sale at the home of Mrs. W. A. Johnston, the afternoon of February 10.

The Woman's Club, instead of the regular meeting on last Wednesday afternoon in the pretty new home of Mrs. Mary Ligon, there was a large attendance of the members and the afternoon's program was greatly enjoyed. The program of the afternoon included books of fiction portraying the sentiment during different periods of American history, also short sketches of the lives of several authors, several short papers being given on these by different members. Miss Thela Barnes added to the afternoon's program by giving several piano selections and Miss Ruth Ligon gave a reading of James Whitcomb Riley. The resignation of Mrs. W. C. Reed was also accepted as secretary, as Mrs. Reed now resides in Paducah. Mrs. Swayne Walker was appointed as secretary for the remainder of the year. After the business session and program, refreshments of custard and angel food cake and mints were served. The cake was iced in white decorated with a polka-dot in red icing, the mints being served in red baskets trimmed in polka-dots. Mrs. Grant Delph, of Atlanta, Ga., was an out-of-town guest. She is a member of the Woman's Club of Atlanta and gave an interesting account of their work.

Gathier Jones, formerly connected with Dobson's store, left the first of the year for Union City, his former home, where he has gone into business. Mrs. Jones will accompany him in about a month.

ELECTED OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Council in First Meeting of Year Holds Interesting Session.

The mayor and city council elected in November met in the first session of the year with a full attendance present Monday night. Important business came up for decision and an interesting meeting was held.

T. T. Swayne, newly elected Mayor, was sworn into office and at his induction made a short talk in which he called on the council and the citizens of the town to add him in conducting a strict economic business administration, with the end in view to do much for the progress and upbuilding of Hickman with the funds available as possible, and calling for a conscientious effort on the part of the officers of the city to banish the bootlegging and other lawlessness which has been up to date here for some time.

Mayor Swayne then appointed the committees for the ensuing term composed of:

Street Committees—R. M. Isler, chairman; N. Gregory and H. Campbell.
Finance Committee—E. R. Ellison, chairman; H. L. Bradley and C. G. Schlenker.

Building Committee—A. N. Gregory, chairman; H. L. Bradley and C. G. Schlenker.

The council then proceeded to the election of those officers of the city that are appointed by the council and the following were chosen:

John Pyle, Clerk
B. G. Hale, Jr., Treasurer
S. D. Steenbridge, Attorney
A. S. Hendry, Chief of Police
Ben Neering, Night Police
Pat Posey, Fire Chief
Ed Wright, Sexton of City Cemetery
R. M. Isler, Superintendent of City Cemetery.

The board then met with the representatives of the Kentucky Utilities Co., L. W. McClellan, commercial manager and Judge Walton Foy, attorney for the company. The subject of the contract between the city and the company was discussed and the company's representatives presented figures to show that the rate which had been charged for the past four months, 12 and 13 cents a kilowatt, was not sufficient to pay operating cost. The company granted them a raise of once cent a kilowatt in their new contract, which is really a reduction of three cents over the contract in effect previous to the past four months. The former rate under the old contract was 16 and 17 cents.

ORGANIZE LEAGUE TO ENFORCE LAW

Mass Meeting Will be Held at Court House Friday Night.

There will be a mass meeting of the citizens of Hickman and vicinity at the Court House Friday night, Jan. 6, for the purpose of organizing a "Citizen's Law Enforcement League." The meeting will begin at 7:30. The citizens of this community are on trial and no friend of law and order can afford to be absent from this great meeting.

Citizens have talked; organizations have passed ringing resolutions, preachers have preached stirring sermons; officers have made campaign pledges; and now the time has come for action against the open and flagrant violation of law and order.

Business men, doctors, lawyers and preachers, officers of the law, teachers, women who have the deepest interest in the welfare of our homes and youth; in fact, voters from every vocation of the life of our community will be present for a mutual understanding of our community needs, and plans will be formulated to enforce the prohibition laws, the eighteenth amendment, the constitution of the United States and America the laws relating to common nuisances and immorality in general.

Do not be a slacker in an hour like this. Do not think "George will do it." George has been at it too long already. Every decent citizen is to be blamed if things are "rotten in Denmark." Do not let anything short of the impossible keep you from showing your colors next Friday night. Do not stay at home and wind up, get out and show what you stand for.

MISS LOVIE FULLER

Miss Lovie Fuller, the seventeen year old daughter of Mrs. Vic Fuller, died in their home in West Hickman on Wednesday morning at five o'clock. Her mother returned to her teaching on Tuesday morning. Miss Lovie became suddenly very much worse on Tuesday morning and continued to sink rapidly.

She was the eldest daughter of Mrs. Vic Fuller, was born and reared in this city, and had a large circle of friends and her death comes as a great shock. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 at the Baptist Church in West Hickman, in charge of the Rev. E. L. Miley. Interment will be at City Cemetery.

Besides her mother she is survived by two younger sisters, Misses Lilla D. and Tommie Fuller, and two older half-sisters.

"THE OLD KENTUCKY HOME"

The suggestion has been made to the members of the State Fair Commission and the Kentucky Historical Society that an Old Kentucky Home be built in the Kentucky State Fair grounds from logs and timbers supplied by the different counties of the state, the home to have all the furnishings that still make the Old Kentucky Home a delightful reality to many and a fond recollection to many more. It is the idea to set aside one acre and a half of ground for the project, and each county is invited to contribute a log to go into the building and to name a representative of the county to go to Louisville and help erect the building, the house to be built just as was done in pioneer days, when every man in the community joined in the house raising.

GEESE GOOD GRAZING STOCK

Fowls Play Important Part in Utilizing Waste Grain About Stables and Feeding Pens.

Geeze have an important part in the endless war on waste. They are in a class with chickens in utilizing waste grain about stables and feeding pens. In a larger measure than chickens or any other kind of poultry they are grazing stock, getting their living in large part from the ordinary grasses of the pastures. Say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. When it is considered that the demand for geese is steady and extended over almost the entire year, not only at the time when the flocks of turkeys are in evidence, other poultry is probably not the importance of geese in the winter scheme is realized.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM TRIMS PROFESSORS

The professors had to take a lesson in basket ball from the boys at the game Friday night for the boys shot goals while their pedagogues looked on with open mouths and wondered how it was done. When the final whistle blew the score showed that the High School team had the big end of the 18-9 count. In the pass game the boys were far superior and kept the ball in their possession most of the game. The teachers were not able to score any goals very well and missed many clear shots. Ray Hendon and R. C. did most of the shooting for the High School.

"Then the girls took the court. And since their own basketball experiments had failed to score up, they proceeded to make a good record and won the game.

It is the first victory they received in the history of the school.

For the second half they turned the ball over to the girls and the girls won.

The Happy Man.
That man is always happy who is in the presence of something which he can or likes to do well, which he is always going to do well. This is the necessary condition of a happy creature with his own mind and divinely directed into happiness; therefore, it's happy state—indeed, a state, not of trouble, but of joy, is what it knows. Men of joy are the most contented, the most peaceful, continual self-satisfied, cheerful, unashamed—Russia.

The first day of the month of February is the first day of the year. This is the greatest occasion to have been heard of in the world's history. That remedy that's in the world's history is still potent and still effective. Such remarks often result in the United States and Canada, one great battle now, at the end of the year.

The day after the day of the first day of the year, the strength is increased by the day. This is the day of the year, 25 December, when the world's Tithing is done. Let us do it again, while during the year, the last year, the new was 1,230,000,000.

Illinois Central System Ready for the Tasks of 1922

The beginning of a new year is a time when we pause to review what has transpired in the year just ended, seeking to gain from our reflection something which will be of value in deciding our future course.

The eventful year through which we have just passed has been particularly marked by restrictive economic demands upon the railroads. We entered the year full of hope that the business depression which had set in would soon spend its force and that business would again go along normally, but that hope failed to materialize. As a result of the falling off in business the railroads as a whole during the first nine months of the year earned a net return equivalent to approximately 2.9 per cent upon their vibration in return, presumably sufficient to pay interest on outstanding bonds, with no allowance for compensation for the owners. The improvement in net earnings during the latter part of the year has been slow and in many instances it has been brought about only at the sacrifice of badly needed maintenance expenditures. A demand for reduced railway rates, in the face of the future of the railroads, as a whole, to earn a net return sufficient to their needs, also was restrictive in the uncertainty it created.

In spite of these influences, however, the railroads have given adequate service at all times. We should not be discouraged by the present situation, unfavorable as some of its aspects may be.

We should like to give you in this review a statement of how the Illinois Central System has accounted for itself during 1921, but at this time we have complete information covering only the ten months to November 1.

During the first ten months of the year the Illinois Central System performed a freight service equivalent to carrying 10,286,296,822 tons of freight one mile, as compared with 13,200,197,416 net ton miles in the first ten months of 1920. During the first ten months of 1921 we performed a passenger service equivalent to carrying 642,365,324 passenger miles one mile, as compared with 830,526,161 passenger miles in the first ten months of 1920. This decrease in business is reflected in the gross earnings. For the first ten months of 1921 we had a gross income of $135,926,186, which was $6,615,074 less than the gross income of the corresponding period of 1920.

Through drastic reductions in our expenditures, we ended the first ten months of 1921 with a net income of $7,772,154. Approximately $9,375,000 was required to pay dividends on stock for the ten months' period, leaving a balance of $1,396,554 for improvement in our properties. However, during the ten months of this year covered in this report we spent a total of $10,284,800 for new equipment, over and above amounts spent in the repair and maintenance of equipment, and a total of $6,614,782 for permanent improvements to roadway, over and above expenditures for maintenance. This total new investment of $22,899,591 exceeded the amount we had left over after paying expenses and a return on investments by $21,503,047, which had to be borrowed.

We entered the year with 57,081 employees, but the drastic reductions in force made necessary by the general decline in business cut the number to 48,649 in February. Since that time there has been a steady gain in the number of employees. When it became known that a reduced scale of wages would become effective July 1 through the ruling of the Railroad Labor Board, we immediately laid plans for large increases in our force, with the result that by October we had a total of 60,388 employees in all departments.

In spite of the depression the Illinois Central has made a creditable showing. One reason for this has been that our employees have striven at all times to perform their service to the public in that efficient and courteous manner which marks our organization. To them belongs much of the credit for what we have accomplished.

We take the position that we are but the trustees of a great investment which has been made in this agency of transportation, and that we are responsible to the public for our stewardship. We call the public's attention to the events of the year, and give our pledge that we shall strive to the utmost to make of 1922 a year of still greater success. To that end we seek your confidence and good will.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President Illinois Central System.

Dread Disease Most Likely to Appear in Herds During Months of October and November.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

October and November are the months when the dread disease, hog cholera, is most likely to appear. During those months and until snow covers the ground swine raisers are urged by the United States Department of Agriculture to be especially observing when feeding hogs in the morning. Any animals in the herd which fail to come to their feed, and particularly those having cracked backs and rough coats, should be removed promptly from the rest of the herd.

In some cases hogs sick with cholera die within a few days; in others the disease may assume a chronic form and linger for several weeks. If cholera is suspected swine growers should immediately call a competent veterinarian to make a proper diagnosis and to apply the preventive serum treatment if they are found to be infected with cholera. A post-mortem examination of swine that have Flank Injection--The Proper Handling of Hog Cholera Treatment is Absolutely Essential to the Checking of the Disease.

Died from cholera generally will show one or more of the following symptoms: Purple blotches on the skin; blood-colored spots on the surfaces of the lungs and heart, on the kidneys, and on both the outer surface and inner linings of the intestines, stomach, and bladder; reddening of lymphatic glands; enlargement of the spleen, in acute cases; an ulceration of the inner lining of the large intestine.

In the lingering or chronic cases of hog cholera it is usual to find intestinal button-like ulcers on the intestines.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there are more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly will help to remove worms, improve the digestion, and act as a general Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

Old Egyptian "Beauty Aids."

Evidence has been found that the beauty specialists of ancient Egypt were very skillful in the use of false hair. The coiffures of the Egyptian beauties were very elaborate, as fringes and carvings of the period clearly show. The Egyptians not only made wigs and hair switches, but were specially clever in preparing false locks and curls to match the hair.

MERELY OBEDIING THE DOCTOR

Patient Was Following His Physician's Instructions, at the Cost of Much Physical Discomfort.

The boarders were much alarmed one night by what sounded like a man running at a tremendous pace in one of the upper rooms. However, as it came from the second-floor front room of the new boarder, nothing was said.

The next night the same running noise was heard; still it was thought best to say nothing. But the third night the noise differed; the boarders huddled together in the parlor, as the man above came down off the floor with a thump, thump that clearly shook the house.

Two men needed to live here.

"What is the matter up here?" asked one of them, as the door was opened by the new boarder.

"Why," came the answer, between gasps for breath, "I'm taking my medicine."

"Medicine?" echoed the men.

"Yes," said the new boarder, as he dropped into a chair from sheer exhaustion. "It's tougher on me than it is on you. But the doctor said I must take it two nights running, and then skip the third night."

REMINISCENCES

FIFTY YEARS AGO

"Married on the night of Dec. 21, by Rev. J. H. Rouliac, Byrum S. Parham to Miss Mollie Duffy."

A 5 year old child, daughter of Mr. Green, was burned to death at his home, eight miles above Hickman on the river.

"The smallpox appears to be raging in Cincinnati and all the principal cities of the United States to an alarming extent."

"J. H. Plant & Co. have bought the Ledwidge building, corner Jackson and Kentucky streets, and we learn there is good prospects now that the old frames on this corner and adjoining will be torn down and substantial blocks erected."

The following officers were elected at the city election: Mayor, H. A. Tyler; councilmen, Samuel Landrum, N. P. Harness, Thad W. Thomas, H. S. Campbell, John Troutwine and Jacob Frenz.

The Hickman Masonic Lodge elected the following officers: J. H. Rouliac, W. M.; S. N. White, S. W.; Charles Baltzer, J. W.; John W. Cowgill, secretary; W. D. Taylor, tyler.

The new instruments ordered by the Hickman Corner Band were destroyed by fire in an express car between Chicago and Cairo.

William Barton, express robber, made a written confession, which was published in the Nashville Banner. He was one of the band that robbed express cars on the M. & O. at Moscow and Union City, afterwards going to Luster's Landing and starting a store as a blind. They were captured at the latter place.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Calls were issued for Democratic and Republican county committee meetings by the charlmen, S. W. Luten for the former and Leroy Collins for the latter.

"The river is rising rapidly and we may expect it to come higher, judging from the amount of rain reported above."

"The acreage of wheat sown in this country this year is much larger than last year."

"W. P. Reed of near Fulton, with his son Clarence and daughter Jessie, were the guests of J. A. Noonan and family last week."

Otto Hertwick went to Shaw, Miss., to superintend the construction of a saw mill.

"The 'People's Friend,' the Populist paper printed at Union City, has suspended."

"C. A. Douglass will reopen the Commercial hotel next Monday."

"The young people held social parties last week at the homes of Dr. J. M. Hubbard, H. Buchanan and M. B. Shaw."

Murrell Roper and Miss Hattie

Brown were married at the residence of W. J. Harper, near town, Rev. T. C. Mahan performing the ceremony.

David Montgomery, one of the best known young business men of Hickman, died at his home in this city December 27th.

"There are still a number of victims of the gripe in this city."

Woman's Queer Mama

Five full-size teaspoons were taken from the stomach of a Todd county (Ky.) woman when she was operated on recently. An X-ray photograph previously made showed the spoons very plainly, one held by itself and the other four together. Just when or how she swallowed the spoons is not known. Her mind became affected several months ago and she was sent to the Western State hospital for treatment. She often threatened to swallow spoons or said that she had swallowed them, but no incision of her throat was visible.

Improving Company

It evidently needs reforming, madam. Try putting it in the parlor with the upright piano. —Boston Transcript.

DON'T RISK NEGLECT

Don't neglect a constant backache, sharp, darting pains or urinary disorders. The danger of dropsy or Bright's disease is too serious to ignore. Use Dodd's Kidney Pills, as have your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor!

Miss Emily Smith, Washington St., says: "I think my back and kidneys became out of order from overwork. The action of my kidneys was irregular at times. My feet and limbs were swollen and felt badly. I called a doctor, but he did me no good at all. A friend told me of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I bought a box. I used two or three boxes of this remedy and it did me a lot of good. I can recommend Dodd's because I think they are a good kidney medicine." (Statement given October 18, 1916).

On December 3, 1920, Miss Smith said: "I think just us much of Dodd's Kidney Pills as when I endorsed them in 1916. Since then I have had a slight attack of kidney trouble and I only needed to take a few Dodd's until I was all right again. They are a wonderful medicine for kidney trouble."

Price, 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Dodd's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

A Statement by The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway

The New Year suggests itself as a fitting time to express to the public the principles which actuate the management in the operation of this railroad property.

1. Subject to reasonable regulation, because of the public character of the service rendered, the owners of railroads are the owners of private property, entitled to all the rights and privileges of such ownership.

2. In the operation of the property, the management owes a three-fold obligation:

First—to the Public, it owes good service at a reasonable charge. The efficient operation of a railroad requires long experience and technical training. Dictation as to operation sometimes practiced by public Commissions often imposes burdens on the railroad with no corresponding benefit to the public.

Second—to the owners, it owes the duty of fully maintaining the property and earning a reasonable return on the investment.

Third—to its employees, it owes reasonable working rules, considerate treatment and a just wage, recognizing the nature of the service performed, the comparative wages paid in other industries and the ability of the railroad to pay such wages.

3. To meet these obligations satisfactorily, the management must, in fact, have the power to manage the property within the limitations of reasonable public regulation, but free from such influences as unduly disturb economic laws and so interfere with operations as to hamper individuality, destroy initiative and make it impossible to fulfill the entire obligation of management.

4. This Company is not in politics. It has neither party nor factional affiliation. Of necessity, it keeps advised of prospective acts of legislation affecting its interests and presents its view in a legal and proper way, openly and above board, relying on the inherent justice of its case as publicly presented.

5. It is the earnest hope of The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway, that, acting in accord with the principles here expressed, it may by fair dealing deserve the affection of its employees and by rendering good and courteous service at reasonable charges earn the respect and confidence of the public. To that end, it asks no special favors, but only that, subject to reasonable and fair regulation, it may have the opportunity of performing the public service of transportation.

In rendering that service, your co-operation, suggestions and constructive criticism are invited.

PROGRESS SLOW DURING THE YEAR

Heavy Taxes, Chaotic Financial Conditions and Minor Wars Hamper Recovery in 1921.

HOPE COMES NEAR ITS END

Washington Conference on Armament Limitation the Most Important Event—What President Harding's Administration and the Congress Have Accomplished:

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Back to normalcy was the slogan of 1921, not only in America but in all the civilized nations of the world. But minor wars, financial and economic disturbances, coupled with conditions in Europe, a widespread unemployment, finally in Russia and other countries made progress to the right direction slow, excepting perhaps in the United States.

When the year opened the peoples were groaning under the burden of taxation and depression resulting from the World war. As it drew to a close they were still groaning but had hopefully turned their eyes toward Washington, where the representatives of great powers were negotiating international agreements that would eliminate some of the causes of war, especially in the Far East, and limit the means of making war. In the success of this conference and of others that might grow out of it lay for the time being the hope of humanity.

Efforts to enforce the terms of the treaty of Versailles resulted in conflicts among some of the new nations created by that pact, and several of the older nations were involved in warfare. Germany, working most to recover her old position in the world of commerce, was hampered by the disastrous decline in the value of the mark, and her leaders protested continually that she could not possibly pay the war indemnity. Peace negotiations between the British government and Sinn Fein were brought to a successful conclusion by which the Irish Free State was constituted.

The League of Nations, though functioning without the cooperation of the United States, accomplished much during the year, chiefly through its council, which met in Paris on February 21 and immediately referred proposed amendments to the covenant to a committee. President Wilson, who during January had withdrawn the American representatives from the council of ambassadors and the reparations commission, on February 23 sent to the league council a strong protest against the inclusion of the island of Yap in territories subjected to the mandate of Japan, and also formally demanded for America a voice in the disposal of the former German colonies. The council in reply said it was not concerned with the allocation of Yap to Japan and invited the United States to take part in discussions concerning the Turkish and African mandates. A month after the Republican administration took office Secretary of State Hughes reiterated Mr. Wilson's stand concerning Yap and mandates in general, and later France and Italy endorsed America's position in the controversy over the island, though Japan formally refused to give up her mandate. Thereafter that dispute was the subject of long drawn-out negotiations between the United States and Japan which led to a treaty by which the United States was assured equal rights in Yap and other islands mandated to Japan.

The council of ambassadors in January gave Germany more time to disarm, appointed a commission to pass on Austria's economic status, decided that Latvia and Estonia should be recognized as sovereign states, and then fixed the German reparations at 226,000,000 gold marks, payable in annual installments, and 12 per cent tax on exports during the period of payment. This reparations decision created consternation in Germany and Berlin at once began efforts to persuade the United States to intervene in her behalf. The Wilson administration made no response, but on April 2 Secretary Hughes informed Germany the United States would not countenance her escaping full responsibility for the war or getting out of paying to the limit of her ability. A few days earlier, Berlin having failed to make the first payments, French troops occupied Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Kiel.

The British objected strongly to this independent action and France withdrew. It would be tedious to detail the negotiations over the reparations bill. Suffice it to say that Germany, with Doctor Wirth as chancellor, was compelled to accept the figures of 135,000,000 gold marks finally decided on by the supreme council, made the payments due during the year but, on December 14, announced that in major part of the sums due in the early part of 1922 could not be raised. And since many economists agreed that to drive her into absolute bankruptcy would be disastrous to the rest of the world, toward the close of the year there was increasing talk of arranging a moratorium of two to three years for her. France was the chief objector to such delay, as she relied on the money due her from Germany, but she showed signs of yielding to the general view. Division of Upper Silesia between Germany and Poland caused a lot of trouble. A plebiscite was held there in March, but both sides asserted it was unfair and early in May the region was invaded by Polish irregulars. Thinly veiled support was given them by the Warsaw government and also by the French and there succeeded a long series of fights between them and German volunteer forces. The entente cordiale of the allies was near to rupture, but in June British troops entered the territory and began clearing out the Poles. The dispute was referred to the League council which in October announced the boundary lines. Neither Germany nor Poland was satisfied but both accepted the decision.

All through the year the Greeks fought the Turkish nationalists in Anatolia, with varying fortune while the allied powers held aloof though offering mediation which Greeks refused. In November France made a treaty with the Kemalist government which aroused protests from Great Britain and led to diplomatic negotiations.

The United States formally made peace with the central powers by the treaty with Austria being signed August 24, that with Germany August 25 and the pact with Hungary August 29. In these treaties America reserved all that was given her by the treaty of Versailles which the senate had refused to ratify.

President Harding on July 10 issued formal invitations to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to send representatives to Washington for a conference on limitation of armament and Far East questions. Acceptance from all was already assured by a process of "feeling out" and on August 11 the formal invitations went out. China, Belgium, Holland and Portugal being asked to participate in discussions involving the Far East. The foremost statesmen of these four powers were named as delegates and on November 12 the momentous conference opened with the usual ceremony. Almost immediately Secretary Hughes put forward America's plan for reduction and limitation of naval armament, including a naval holiday for ten years, the scrapping of all shipbuilding programs, destruction of vessels to a certain point and the univalence of the navies of America, Great Britain and Japan on a 5-5-3 basis. The plan was formally accepted by the delegates of those nations on December 15, and to the agreement were added clauses for the preservation of the status quo of naval bases and fortification in the western Pacific.

Of almost equal importance was the four-power pact accepted by the conference on December 13. This was cast in the form of a treaty by which the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan agreed to maintain peace in the Pacific, the Anglo-Japanese treaty being honored.

China offered some very difficult problems to the conference and all the demands of her delegates were not satisfied. The conferees, however, did enter into an agreement to remove many of the foreign restrictions on China and to respect the territorial and administrative integrity of the oriental republic and preserve the open door for trade and industry of all nations. Direct negotiations between the Chinese and Japanese delegates resulted in Japan's agreeing to restore Shantung province to China upon receiving payment for the railway.

It was evident from the first that the conference could not do much in the matter of limitation of land armaments so long as the situation in central Europe remained so unsettled. Premier Briand was present to give voice to France's needs of protection and fears of aggression by Germany and possibly by Russia. His eloquent speech so far convinced the conference that the other powers gave assurance that France would never be left in the "moral isolation" which she feared.

President Harding has clung to his idea that an association of nations can be formed which would do what the League of Nations cannot do, and on November 25 he put forward the suggestion of a continuing series of conferences like that in Washington, which presumably might result in the formation of the association. The idea was received with favor everywhere, except that the French demurred at the proposed inclusion of Germany.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

During the first six months of the year the guerrilla warfare between the British forces in Ireland and the Irish "republicans" continued unabated. Murders by the Sinn Feiners and reprisals by the British were of almost daily occurrence. The Irish were especially exasperated by the execution of a number of prisoners convicted of complicity in the killing of soldiers. The appointment of Lord Talbot, leading British Roman Catholic, as lord lieutenant of Ireland, failed of its effect. On May 25 the Sinn Feiners burned the Dublin custom house, and on June 30 they re-elected Eamonn de Valera president of the "Irish Republic." Meanwhile the new government of northern Ireland was organized, with Sir James Craig as premier, and on June 22 King George went across to open the Ulster parliament. De Valera on July 9 accepted the invitation of Premier Lloyd George to a conference in London, and truce was announced. Then began the series of negotiations that lasted through the remainder of the year. Offers and counter-offers were made, and finally Britain professed Ireland full status as a dominion within the empire, to be known as the Irish Free State. A treaty to this effect was ratified by the British parliament and submitted to the Diet of Ulster who, however, was given the option of becoming a part of the Irish Free State or retaining her status. Angry she chose the latter.

Charles ex-emperor of Austria-Hungary, made two futile efforts to regain the Hungarian throne. On March 27 he appeared in Hungary without forces and claimed the crown, but Regent Horthy refused to step aside. Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Rumania mobilized to frustrate the coup and the allied council of ambassadors warned Hungary that the renovation of the Hapsburg regime would not be tolerated. So Charles returned to his place of refuge in Switzerland. But he was not through, for on October 21 he and his wife Zita went by airplane to Hungary and rallied a considerable number of supporters who proclaimed Charles king. Again the little entente prepared for action but Regent Horthy had his army out of Budapest and defeated the Czechs in a raid battle. The former emperor and empress were taken prisoner, as were a number of prominent Hungarians.

They decided that Charles must be exiled and in September he and Zita were taken to French Melita. This year was one of fighting famine and efforts to rescue refugees of other nations. The soviet government held its own against repeated raids, while occupied regions of the world, especially Russia, suffered from invasion of the Cossacks by Peter Wrangel for the White Guard, the successor of the czars. The Cossacks brought terrible famine in the Virgin region. Many thousands starved to death and even the American relief administration, which took charge of the situation, could only partially break the disaster. In seeking to break through the ring of isolation surrounding the Moscow government gradually receded from its communistic principles. It sought the aid of foreign capital, and on August 9 it abandoned state ownership of all but a few of the largest industries. Treaties were made with the Baltic states and with Turkey, and tempting offers of concessions were held out to other nations. In a notable announcement on October 21 Premier Lenin admitted the economic defeat of communism.

Old King Peter of Serbia died in Belgrade on August 17, and four days later his son Alexander was proclaimed king of Jugoslavia. He was reluctant to leave Paris, however, and it was not until November 6 that he went to Belgrade and assumed his crown. Portugal was upset by several revolutionary movements toward the close of the year. On August 19 the ministry was overthrown by a military coup and several cabinet members, including Premier Graujo, were assassinated. A few days later a plot of the royalists was uncovered, and in November Carvalho Mesquita led a revolt. Because of these disorders and the spread of bolshevism the powers began consideration of a plan for intervention. Spain had rebels, also the tribesmen of Morocco. Against them she maintained a wearying and expensive warfare for months. And while on the subject of rebellion, mention must be made of the revolt of the Mopans on the Malabar coast of India, which caused the British government much annoyance and not a few lives.

There were communist outbreaks in Germany in March, and on August 28 Matthias Erzberger, the German statesman who signed the treaty of Versailles, was assassinated. Doctor Wirth, who became chancellor on May 10, resigned with his cabinet on October 22, but was persuaded to remain in office and form a new ministry. In November there were riots in many German cities due to the high prices of food. The chauvinistic element in Japan was active, especially after the Washington conference opened, and on November 8 Premier Hara was assassinated. Viscount Takahashi succeeded him. The emperor of Japan suffered a complete mental and physical breakdown some time last year, and Crown Prince Hirohito was made regent on November 25. He had lately returned from a tour of Europe.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS

During the early part of the year the country was preparing for the change of administration on March 4. President-elect Harding resigned as senator from Ohio on January 9, and the next day he asked that preparations for an elaborate inauguration be canceled, feeling that it would be inconsistent with the urgent need for economy. On February 19 Mr. Harding announced the appointment of Charles E. Hughes as his secretary of state—a choice that met with general approval—and on succeeding days he completed his cabinet with these names: Secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon; secretary of war, John W. Weeks; attorney general, Harry M. Daugherty; postmaster general, Will H. Hays; secretary of the navy, Edwin Denby; secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall; secretary of agriculture, Henry C. Wallace; secretary of commerce, Herbert C. Hoover; secretary of labor, James J. Davis. Mr. Harding was inaugurated on March 4 with simple, dignified ceremony, and President Wilson, despite his continued illness, was able to be present. The senate, in extra session, confirmed the cabinet and a number of other appointments, and adjourned on March 15.

On the first day of the year General Crowder was sent by President Wilson to Cuba to see what could be done to restore financial and economic conditions there, upset by the collapse of the sugar boom. He remained on the island for a long time and succeeded in his mission to a considerable extent. On April 11 telephone communication between the United States and Cuba was opened by an exchange of greetings between Presidents Harding and Menocal.

The United States Supreme court rendered several notable decisions. On January 31 it held that Judge Landis had no lawful right or power to preside over the trial of Victor Berger and other Socialists. On March 28 it ruled that profits from sale of corporate stocks and bonds and capital assets are taxable as income. On April 11 it refused to review the convictions of Haywood and 39 other I. W. W. members. The conviction of Senator Newberry of Michigan and others for alleged violation of the corrupt practices act was set aside on May 2, the act being held void. On June 30 William Howard Taft was appointed chief justice and was sworn in on October 3.

The unemployment situation became so bad during the summer that President Harding called a conference of experts on the subject. It began its sessions on September 26 and, after a long study, established a central bureau and started local employment bureaus throughout the country. The resulting relief was partial, for business itself was suffering a general depression.

One of the worst race riots in the history of the country broke out in Tulsa, Okla., on May 31. Before it was quelled the negro quarter of the city had been burned and 37 persons had been killed and many wounded.

Labor troubles of long standing in West Virginia culminated in an insurrectionary movement by miners which ended forth a proclamation by the President ordering them to disperse. Federal troops were sent into the region and the miners soon surrendered.

A commission, headed by Gen. Leonard Wood, was sent to the Philippines. It reported in November, recommending highest immediate withdrawal of the United States from the Islands. Meantime General Wood was offered and accepted the post of governor general.

The American Legion, in session at Kansas City, elected Lieut. Col. Hanford MacNider of Iowa its national commander on November 1. The Legion had as guests Marshal Foch of France, General Diaz of Italy, Admiral Bentyn of England and other distinguished warriors. These same visitors and many other eminent persons participated, on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, in the ceremony of the burial of America's unknown soldier in the National cemetery at Arlington.

Under the budget law which was passed in May Gen. Charles G. Dawes was appointed director general of the federal budget and he and his aids made notable progress in the way of cutting down the expenses of the government.

NATIONAL LEGISLATION

Not a great deal of legislation was passed by the Republican congress during the last two months of President Wilson's administration. The President vetoed the bill to revive the War Finance corporation on January 2, and congress promptly repassed it. On January 12, $7,000,000 was appropriated for enforcement of prohibition. The house decided, on January 10, that its membership should not be increased. After much debate congress set the limit of the regular army at 175,000 men. Mr. Wilson vetoed the measure, but it was passed over his veto. On February 23 the President signed the Winslow bill, making available to the railroads $370,000,000 from the government guarantee fund.

President Harding called congress in extra session on April 11 and nearly all the rest of the year it was busy with the task of redeeming the pledges of the Republican party, with what success must be left to individual judgment. Among the first bills passed were emergency tariff and immigration acts; a new army bill cutting the army down to 150,000; and the budget bill. On April 30 the senate adopted a resolution declaring the war with Germany and Austria at an end; on June 13 the house adopted a resolution of similar purport, and the measure was finally passed on July 1 and signed the next day by President Harding. Repeated efforts to pass a soldiers' bonus bill came to naught, but a soldiers' relief bureau was created on August 2 and Col. C. R. Forbes was made its director. The house passed both a tax revision bill and a tariff bill, but the senate did not get around to the latter. The tax measure was enacted into law on November 21.

Among other important measures passed were a bill to exempt American coastwise shipping from payment of Panama canal tolls; a bill for government regulation of the packing industry; the $48,500,000 shipping board deficiency bill; the billion-dollar farm exports credit bill; and various measures relating to enforcement of the prohibition amendment, including one forbidding the manufacture and sale of beer as medicine.

The extra session came to an end on November 23, and on December 5 congress met for the regular session.

LABOR AND INDUSTRIAL

Two strong tendencies in the world of labor marked the year in the United States. One was toward a reduction of wages, as a part of the "return to normalcy," and the other was toward the establishment of the open shop. Naturally both were contested by organized labor, not wholly successfully. The railway executives took the lead in both movements, but had many fol-towers. In January the national conference of state manufacturers' associations pledged support for the open shop movement. On the last day of that month the railway executives asked that the rail and working agreements be abrogated; the railroad brotherhoods appealed to President Wilson to prevent wage reductions but he refused to interfere. By order of the railway labor board some of the working agreements were terminated on July 1 and a wage cut averaging 12 per cent was put into effect. The railroads later announced they would ask further wage cuts. The membership of the brotherhoods decided by vote that a strike should be called on October 30, but nine allied unions refused to support such a strike, and an announcement by the board that it would not consider wage cut requests until all working rate questions had been decided that strike order was canceled. On December 1 the board reconstituted the working rules so that the open shop principle was recognized.

In the packing-had strike there was a wage reduction in March and strike was narrowly averted. In September the large packing plants installed the shop representation system and in November, under this plan, the employees consented to a further reduction of 10 per cent. The meat cutters repudiated this and called a strike on Dec. 3.

There were many minor strikes, most of them short lived. Samuel Gompers was reelected president of the American Federation of Labor which held its convention in Denver in June.

Great Britain's coal miners went on strike on March 1 and for nearly four months the nation's industries were near collapse. The rail and transport workers refused to go out and the government would not yield to the demands that the mines be nationalized, so the miners returned to work on June 28 without having gained much.

SPORTS

It was a great year for sports. In all lines there was activity and prosperity, and international contests were numerous.

Organized baseball, which had suffered from the White Sox scandal, rehabilitated itself by the appointment of Judge Landis as supreme arbiter. The New York Giants and the New York Yankees won the National and American leagues pennants, respectively, and in the series for the world championship the Giants were victorious. The former members of the Chicago White Sox who were accused of conspiracy to "throw the 1919 world's series" were acquitted by a jury, though not by public opinion.

Joel Hutchinson of America won the British open golf championship in June. In this country the titles went as follows: Western amateur, Charles Evans, Jr.; national open, James M. Barnes; western open, Walter Hagen; national amateur, Jesse Guilford.

The feature in pugilism was the battle for the world's heavyweight title between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier of France on July 2. The Frenchman was knocked out in the fourth round. Benny Leonard defended the lightweight title against Ritchie Mitchell on January 14; Jack Britton, welterweight champion, defeated Ted Lewis of England on February 7, and Pete Herman won the bantamweight title from Joe Lynch on July 25.

Davis and Johnston, the American tennis team, won the Davis cup in New Zealand on January 1, and Tilden won the international championship in Paris on June 4, and the American championship on September 19. The Americans again won the Davis cup on September 3 by defeating the Japanese team.

The University of Illinois won the Western Conference track and field meet and the National Collegiate athletic meet in June. Yale defeated Harvard in their annual boat race on June 24. The University of Iowa won the Western Conference football championship, and Harvard beat Yale on November 19. The East was given two jobs in football, for the University of Chicago defeated Princeton and Centre College of Kentucky beat Harvard.

On November 23 young Jake Schaefer won the world's billiards championship long held by Willie Hoppe.

DISASTERS

Floods, tornados and conflagrations cost many lives and vast property losses in 1921. A four-million-dollar fire destroyed the business section of Athens, Ga., on January 24.

The Argentine grain elevator in Chicago, largest in the world, was wrecked by fire and explosion on March 19, the loss being $5,000,000.

A thousand houses in Tokyo were destroyed by flames in March, and in April fire in Manila rendered 15,000 homeless and 4,000 buildings were burned in Hakodate, Japan. The Southern states were struck by a tornado on April 15, 100 persons being killed.

Mrs. Hubert Long, of Memphis, formerly Miss Carmen Crawford, of this city, was honored at a pretty party given by Miss Marguerite Fuqua on Friday evening last. The C. L. Club, of which Mrs. Long was a member, composed the guests. Several contests furnished amusement during the earlier hours, followed by the popular game of Rock. After the delicious refreshments of Charlotte Russe, fruit cake and biscuits were served another game was introduced that caused much merriment and made each realize the importance of the personal pronoun "I". How difficult to converse without its use. Mrs. J. E. Fuqua and Mrs. C. C. Smith were also participants in the evening's pleasure.

An enjoyable meeting of the Willing Workers' Club was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. N. Gregory on Troy Ave. Music, recitations and contests and lovely refreshments filled the afternoon with pleasant moments. All wished for another such pleasant evening with their charming hostess.
